

30 WOUNDED AS BRAVARIA REDS BATTLE

MASS OF BILLS TO BE GIVEN HEARING DURING NEXT WEEK

150 MEASURES WILL BE HEARD BY VARIOUS COMMITTEES.

HUSTLE SESSION Daily Calendars Crowded in Houses; Education Has Chief Attention.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Madison.—The legislature appears to be making a determined effort to shorten the present session by undertaking a volume of work not previously attempted, judging by the number of committee hearings scheduled. Bulletins for the coming week show 150 bills to be heard, with daily calendars in both houses crowded with measures up for action.

Education will command the principal attention in committees during the week. A joint meeting of the assembly committee on education and the senate committee on education and public welfare on Thursday will consider the bill abolishing the university and normal school regents and the state board of education, with creation of a central state board of education to take their place.

Garey Bill Wednesday. The previous day, it has the Garey bill providing for the abolition of the state board of education and the creation of a new board to take over the activities of the superintendent of public instruction. Both of these measures are of marked importance to the state's educational system.

The fight for college courses in normal schools also opens Wednesday in the consideration of the Treadwell bill, renouncing Milwaukee Normal school of the Milwaukee Teachers' college and making the continuance of college courses in that school mandatory. A junior college division will be established should the bill pass.

War Referendum. A memorial to congress to provide that no declaration of war shall be effective until approved by the people in a referendum vote, as proposed by a resolution of Senator Heck, Racine, is before the state affairs committee of the senate on Thursday.

The joint committee on highways on Wednesday has four bills providing for registration of automobiles and testing stations for automobile lights.

A bill by Assemblyman Clinton G. Price, providing for the nomination of candidates for president and vice president of the United States by direct primary election, will have a hearing before the committee on elections.

The labor committee has a hearing on the regulation of barbers, proposed by Assemblyman E. H. Killian.

Bill for Veterans. Abolition of the service recognition board and rehabilitation and hospitalization of veterans of the World War, by the creation of a soldiers' rehabilitation board, proposed in a bill by Assemblyman Herman Sachtlein, will have a hearing before the committee on judiciary.

Bill for Veterans. E. Mark, which would place in the hands of the cities authority to regulate screens and blinds in sighted portions, will be heard by this committee.

The state affairs committee will decide the fate of a bill which would require state capitol employees to work eight hours daily, except holidays and Sundays. They will also recommend a bill asking the appointment of a jointability of a state owned cement plant.

Marshfield Man Public Property Superintendent

Madison.—John Meeks of Marshfield, chairman of the legislative board of railroad engineers in Wisconsin, was appointed superintendent of public property by Governor Blaine to succeed John D. Morrissey, recently named to the board of control.

The appointment, which must be approved by the senate, is for two years at a salary of $4,000.

With Mr. Meeks appointed to the superintendency of public property, it is now believed that Governor Blaine will appoint Frank McManaway of Washington, D. C., as a member of the railroad commission to succeed H. R. Thompson, whose term expired Feb. 1.

Chicago.—Daniel Hayes and eleven others connected with the Daniel Hayes Land company were found not guilty on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

TEAR BOMBS QUELL CRAZED WAR HERO

Youth, Believing Himself Chased by Murderers, Battles Police.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Cleveland, O.—Efforts of more than a score of policemen to dislodge John Wetzell, youthful world war veteran, who, laboring under the delusion that "murderers" are after him, barricaded himself in a room Friday night, were finally successful early Saturday after every room in the city had been thrown into the house.

Wetzell, crazed by a flareback of a nervous disorder from shell shock in France, fled at every one who approached the house. His brother, Herbert, was wounded in the face. Two policemen escaped injury when bullets passed through their clothing. The trouble started late in the evening while Wetzell was seated in the parlor of his home with his mother and 15-year-old sister. He was nervous and repeatedly pleaded with them to "come on up stairs where the murderers can't get us."

There's one of them now," he screamed as Herbert unsuspectingly opened the door. With that the boy was alleged to have shot the bullet, inflicting a glancing wound in Herbert's chest. Herbert immediately called the police. When they arrived John began shooting at them.

Reinforcements brought tear bombs which they threw through a window. Wetzell dashed up stairs. When the firing ceased, four officers climbed the stairs and, pushing aside furniture which blocked the way, found Wetzell cowering in a room. He surrendered and was taken to jail under heavy guard.

VOTE TO ABOLISH FARM INSTITUTES

Reactionary, Badger Assembly Decides; Denounce Railroad Act.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Madison.—The assembly Saturday devoted an hour to the discussion of agricultural troubles and then expressed its opinion on existing conditions by upholding the Miller bill to abolish farm institutes by a vote of 49 to 30. This vote followed the consideration of the decision of the lower house Thursday for termination of the institutes which have served in the state for 40 years.

The general opinion expressed by members of the legislature was that the institutes sponsored by the college of agriculture, were, reactionary and had been functioning for nearly half a century without bringing relief to agriculture.

A memorial to congress denouncing the Esch-Cummins railway law and demanding repeal was unanimously passed by the lower house. This proposal now goes to the senate.

Increased compensation for members of the legislature was favored by the lower house which voted to engross the Czerwinski resolution, already adopted by the senate, raising members pay from $500 biennially to $750 annually.

FORD TO BUILD BIG FACTORY IN ST. PAUL

Detroit.—The Ford Motor company expects to have an automobile plant, employing between 10,000 and 14,000 men, built in full operation in St. Paul by the first of next year. It was said here following action of the Federal Power commission at Washington in granting a preliminary permit for development of power at the Twin Cities.

Practical Victory for Pool Is Seen

Madison.—The Northern Wisconsin Co-operative Tobacco pool practically won its fight against the M. H. Bekkedahl & Son, independent buyers in circuit court here when Judge Edgar V. Werner ruled that the restraining order now in effect shall continue in its present form at least until March 26, when, if no settlement is reached, a continuation of the case will be for development of the counter claims are brought up.

Testimony in the case closed abruptly and the decision of Judge Werner was wholly unexpected by members of the pool and others interested.

Congratulate Pool. When the decision was announced, attorneys Gilbert and Elia, counsel for the pool, were surrounded by interested farmers who wanted to congratulate the attorneys on their success.

After Judge Werner announced his decision, Attorney Corrigan appealed for a modification in the restraining order now in effect. Bekkedahl to purchase tobacco from pool members who solicited him and implored him to buy their tobacco.

Attorney Elia objected strenuously to this saying: "We realize very well that Mr. Bekkedahl is quite capable of hav-

Work on the new Saxe theater in Janesville on High and Dodge streets south of the Grand Hotel will begin within the next ten days.

That was the announcement made at Milwaukee late Friday evening after a conference between the Saxe brothers and P. J. E. Wood, representing the David Jeffris estate, owners of the property on which the Saxes have a 99 year lease made three years ago.

Plans drawn by Tellegen and Sons Co., theater architects, and described in the Gazette at the time of the first publication of the news of the lease, have been accepted by the Jeffris estate.

These plans provide for a theater of 1200 seating capacity with entrance from Milwaukee street through one of the store buildings in the Grand Hotel block. There are 321 stores, numbers 317, 319 and 321 which will be remodeled into a front for the theater. Exits are to be on High and Dodge streets for actors.

It is announced also that the stage which will be a part of the completed theater will not be built this year. This is to be most complete with dressing rooms for the presentation of the largest shows. A smaller stage to be used for pictures and vaudeville will, however, be ready when the show season opens in the fall.

Saxe brothers own a string of theaters with four in Milwaukee and one each in other neighboring cities. With this new house and the one for which steel is being delivered to Harry F. Jones at Wall and Franklin the city will have six show houses.

The leasehold of the Saxes has nothing to do with the contemplated additions to the Grand hotel and the possible rebuilding of that place.

When the lease was made for the property a bond to cover the rental was filed also and there has been much speculation as to the outcome of the plans as originally published. Just at the time the original lease was made a slump came and the Samson tractor company, having practical operations as to the outcome of the plans as originally published.

ROBINS ARE HERE; SNOW PREDICTED

Spring has come! Reports of robins being seen Saturday morning in several parts of the city were phoned to the Gazette. Mrs. H. W. Frick, 229 Jackson street, heard the harbingers but could not find him. Hazel Taylor, auto salesman, spotted the Red Breast in the Blackhawk section Saturday morning. Chauncey Kilmer rushed into the city office to give the tidings that he saw Mr. Robin at the corner of Main and South Third streets. But the weather man says it is going to be after a Sunday, with cloudy weather, and either rain or snow.

TRIAL OF ALLEGED BOMBER, MARCH 12

Several Women May Sit on Jury in "Yule Bomb" Murder Case.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Marshfield.—Several women may sit on the jury which will hear the case of John Magnuson, central figure in the "Yule Bomb" case and charged with the murder of Mrs. James Chapman.

He will be tried during the spring term of court for Wood county, which convenes March 12 at Wisconsin Rapids. Eleven of the 36 persons drawn on the jury panel for the term are women, the first time in the history of the county women have been requested to serve as jurors.

Magnuson was arrested Dec. 30 for alleged complicity in making a bomb to the home of James Chapman, chairman of the Wood county board of supervisors. The bomb killed Chapman's wife and severely injured him.

It was charged that Magnuson sought revenge because of opposition to certain drainage projects sponsored by Chapman, as chairman of supervisors.

Magnuson maintains his innocence and declared the death of Robert Schenck, Wood county farmer who was killed near Richland Center in September, 1921, was the result of the activities of the same parties who sent the "death package" to Chapman.

Another case of state wide interest to be heard at the spring term is that of Mrs. Lucile Daugherty, charged with the murder of Adolph Virum, paper mill employee at Wisconsin Rapids. Virum was killed by a bullet from a .22 calibre rifle in front of the Daugherty home.

COUNCIL FIELD GETS CANDIDATES

Dulin, Ransom and Gardiner Out for Re-Election—Others Have Announced.

While it is apparent there will be no primary election this spring, a number of nomination papers for the spring election are being circulated. A ticket of six men and one woman as the result of a number of canvases and meetings is announced.

The candidates are: William McCue, 315 Locust street, cashier of the First National bank; Jacob K. Jensen, president of the Janesville Sand and Gravel company and present alderman from the Third ward.

Most of these candidates are residents of the west side of the river and three in the east side. E. H. Dulin announced his candidacy on Friday afternoon and will try for the election in the whole city. E. H. Ransom and Glenn Gardiner, also present members of the council, are candidates. Roy Horn has already announced, and it is stated that a slate of seven members of the present council will finally announce.

Most of the campaign will revolve about the candidacy of Mayor Thomas E. Welsh for city manager.

Celebrates Golden Jubilee of Nun, Sister Mary Joseph

By PEGGY O'BRIEN WELSH
In this day and age of convenience when the church and school are brought right to our door, with splendid institutions making these communities centers of culture and refinement, it seems a far off day in a foreign land that could be confronted with problems of religion and secular education.

Janesville was that far off land seven years ago to three young women who having completed their education at the Presentation convent, Cashal, Tipperary, Ireland, were filled with zeal to spread the faith in foreign lands. One of these was Sister Mary Joseph, who will observe her golden anniversary as a nun Sunday at St. Patrick's auditorium. She is the first local sister to have a jubilee. The other two, who came with her, Sister Mary Agnes Luby, who later became Mother Superior, and Sister Mary Bernard Jefferson are long since dead.

Reared in the shadow of the beautiful Presentation convent, Sister Joseph, the daughter of James and Johanna Conner, who received the inspiration to give up her life to God. From the time that she was a small child until she took her first vows she attended this old convent.

Many nuns declared their intentions of going foreign missionary work and at the time that these three postulants set sail for Australia, many others came out for Australia. The Presentation convent, a center of learning for that part of Ireland, is world-renowned for the many sisters which it has sent out to all parts of the globe. Sisters Genevieve, Xavier, Stanislaus and the late Sister Mary Berchmann of St. Joseph's convent, were educated here. The late Dean McGinnis, who was Dean of the University of Notre Dame, visited this convent on their trips to Europe.

America was the land of promise and for three women in the youth of their years and vocation were anxious to come to the states. They had no relatives here. The voyage to them was dangerous and the journey inland to Janesville tedious but their spiritual vista was bright enough to endow them with great enthusiasm. Here they joined with five Sisters of Mercy in the order branching out from Davenport, Ia. Three years later they were processed into this order.

At this time, Oct. 17, 1870 the Rev. James Doyle, now deceased, was beginning to realize the fulfillment of his dream in the building of a parochial school. There was no convent here then and so the nuns established themselves at the Myers home at the top of Milwaukee street hill. For nearly two years the eight nuns lived in the old house. Janesville was indeed a foreign field to the three postulants who were accustomed to the famous old convent and to a country where one religion dominated. The Myers home guarding the hill was a characteristic site for the erstwhile convent as many of the foreign monasteries and convents are thus located.

The nuns were very contented here while the new school and convent were being constructed. They maintained a select school at the house and also came down to St. Patrick's daily and taught the parochial school.

The new school building, which now adjoins the convent was a long stride in St. Patrick's educational system.

Sister Agnes Luby was the first Mother Superior, being selected in 1874. For more than 20 years, until shortly before her illness and death in 1904 she served in this capacity with Sister Joseph as assistant mother. D. J. Luby was a nephew of Mother Agnes.

Sister Luby's Work
It was Mother Agnes who by her patience and sagacity held together the little religious band during the early years of trial. She and Sister Joseph were close friends. The select school was continued at the new building until the nuns were forced to give it up because of the strenuous duties of the hospital and other work. Until 23 years ago Sister Joseph taught in the school. She was absent from the city during that time, one year while at Fond du Lac and two years while at St. Thomas' Catholic school, Beloit, under Father Sullivan. Many Janesville men and women, were pupils of Sister Joseph for whom she has a life long tie. Their successes and failures have always been her vital concern.

For many years Sister Joseph was sacristan, keeper of the altar vessels; she was the head of the first sodality established at St. Patrick's church, the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin. Boys who wished to serve on the altar received their instructions in Latin from Sister Joseph. For many years she taught Sunday school and prepared children to receive their first communion.

Janesville Catholics loved Sister Joseph, the teacher, as children, but that love has deepened to reverence as the years drew them down in sickness and death, for it is as a comforter of the sick and dying that she has personified the ideals of her religion. In the past 20 years that has been the great mission of Sister Joseph. The hour has never been too late, the distance too great that Sister Joseph could not go to the bedside of one who needed her. Often, it is said, Sister Joseph with the simple recitation of the rosary could bring more comfort to the dying than the priest who administers the extreme unction. And now at her golden jubilee Sister Joseph has this milestone, crowned with the satisfaction of seeing her order in achievement and those who follow in her footsteps. The 41 Sisters of Mercy in this city are carrying on a flourishing school and a splendidly equipped hospital, both institutions ranking as among the best in the state.

Children in Jubilee
The children's part of the jubilee was held Saturday afternoon at St. Patrick's auditorium when all the school children were entertained with a moving picture showing the great cathedral at Lourdes, France, a shrine of the Blessed Virgin where miracles are wrought. Refreshments were served.

A public reception will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday at which time Sister Joseph will greet her many friends. A program has been arranged with music and speeches by the Rev. Dean James P. Ryan and United States District Deputy William H. Dougherty. Solemn high mass will be celebrated at 10:30 Tuesday at St. Patrick's church to be followed by a banquet at 12 p. m. in the school dining hall. Sisters and members of the clergy will be guests. Invitations have been sent out to clergy of surrounding towns. The Young Ladies' sodality is decorating the hall for the occasion.

Oshkosh Council Hits Dahl Bill

Oshkosh.—Two thirds of the commission council of this city Friday went on record opposing the Dahl tax bill. With Mayor McHenry and Commissioner Voss voting for it, a resolution was adopted declaring the Dahl bill is unscientific and foolhardy; is based on erroneous economic principles; jeopardizes the industry of the state and is therefore, injurious to home builders; is ultra-radical and founded on class prejudice and penalizes individual and collective thrift and enterprise.

Health.—The federal minister of traffic has forbidden German railways to handle any goods from German firms which have received the support of the Franco-Belgian customs officials in making their shipments.

Sister Luby's Work
It was Mother Agnes who by her patience and sagacity held together the little religious band during the early years of trial. She and Sister Joseph were close friends. The select school was continued at the new building until the nuns were forced to give it up because of the strenuous duties of the hospital and other work. Until 23 years ago Sister Joseph taught in the school. She was absent from the city during that time, one year while at Fond du Lac and two years while at St. Thomas' Catholic school, Beloit, under Father Sullivan. Many Janesville men and women, were pupils of Sister Joseph for whom she has a life long tie. Their successes and failures have always been her vital concern.

For many years Sister Joseph was sacristan, keeper of the altar vessels; she was the head of the first sodality established at St. Patrick's church, the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin. Boys who wished to serve on the altar received their instructions in Latin from Sister Joseph. For many years she taught Sunday school and prepared children to receive their first communion.

Janesville Catholics loved Sister Joseph, the teacher, as children, but that love has deepened to reverence as the years drew them down in sickness and death, for it is as a comforter of the sick and dying that she has personified the ideals of her religion. In the past 20 years that has been the great mission of Sister Joseph. The hour has never been too late, the distance too great that Sister Joseph could not go to the bedside of one who needed her. Often, it is said, Sister Joseph with the simple recitation of the rosary could bring more comfort to the dying than the priest who administers the extreme unction. And now at her golden jubilee Sister Joseph has this milestone, crowned

GENTLE IS GIVEN TWO-YEAR TERM

Former Hotel Proprietor Must Work Under Commitment Law.

Frank Gentle, former proprietor of the London hotel, was sentenced to two years in the county jail when he entered a plea of guilty, Friday afternoon, to a charge of desertion and non-support. Sentence was pronounced by Judge H. L. MacNeill in municipal court. He probably will work out his term under the commitment law, his earnings going to his wife.

When arraigned in court the first time, Thursday, Gentle demanded an examination which was set for March 2. After remaining in jail over night in default of $1,500 bail, Gentle asked that he be allowed to plead guilty, Friday, and appeared in court without an attorney.

DIXON HOME FROM CALIFORNIA VISIT

Californians think no more of traveling 500 miles a day over their long streets of pavement than the ordinary Badger thinks of driving 200 miles a day over middle west roads, according to W. T. Dixon, of the L. & L. Tire company, who has just returned from a five months' visit in Los Angeles. California now boasts more than 500,000 cars, he says. Mrs. Dixon will remain in Green Bay a short time longer before returning to their home, 843 Hyatt street.

CLINTON TO SEE INSTITUTE MOVIE

Four reels of motion pictures showing the work of Olivet Institute, leading Chicago social settlement, will be shown at the Presbyterian church in Clinton Sunday night by Mrs. Florence S. Hyde, community editor of the Gazette. These pictures, which are real movies, have been presented in a number of communities in Rock county recently and have proved interesting and entertaining. Admission will be free.

47 Deaths Here in Two Months

Forty-seven deaths for January and February have thus far been reported to Dr. Fred B. Welch, city health officer, in charge of the bureau of vital statistics for the city of Janesville.

Heart disease took the largest number of lives of any ailment, 13, eight in February and five in January.

Nine died from pneumonia in the two months and four were children one year or under, a perusal of the records shows. Four of these deaths were in February and five in January.

Deaths from various diseases in January are as follows: Organic heart 6; pneumonia, 1; pleurisy, 1; congenital deformity, 1; apoplexy, 1; peritonitis, 2; cancer, 1; stillborn, 4; and toxemia of the mother, 1.

Causes of death of those dying in February are: Fractured skull, 1; heart disease, 8; ulcer of stomach, 1; uterine trouble, 1; diabetes, 1; tuberculosis, 2; apoplexy, 1; stillborn, 1; eclampsia, 1; pneumonia, 4; accident, 1; pericarditis, 1; cancer, 1; meningitis, 1 and measles, 1.

BANK SITE LEASED FOR "HOT DOG" STAND

Janesville soon will have another "hot dog" stand, when the firm of Cholas & Cutas open an establishment where the Bank of Southern Wisconsin was located, at 110 West Milwaukee street, between March 10 and 15. This is the sixth of a chain, the others being located in Green Bay, Kenosha, where the firm makes its headquarters, and three in Detroit. A five year lease has been obtained, the firm says, and work on the interior is progressing.

Mr. Cutas said stores may be started in Eau Claire, Manitowish and Wausau.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends and relatives for their kindness during our recent bereavement, and for the beautiful flowers.

132 CALL SLISTED BY VISITING NURSE

Miss Hulda M. Anderson, city nurse, lists 132 calls to patients in 30 homes as the chief part of her work for February. In her monthly report to the council and board of health, she gave weather conditions made it necessary for her to use taxicabs and street cars more frequently, fares costing $9.05. Forty-two interviews are reported.

CEMENT ARRIVES FOR '23 ROAD WORK

30,000 Barrels to be Needed—Moore Plans Early Start.

Construction work on the Janesville-Evansville road may be resumed within the next month, Highway Commissioner Charles E. Moore said Saturday on his return from a three weeks' vacation through the east and south.

The time is entirely dependent on the weather. Mr. Moore is hoping for an early spring, so that a long season may be put in to make up for last year when work was hampered toward the close by a lack of cement. Work in 1922 was not started until about the middle of May. At the latest it is expected work will start at least two weeks earlier this year. Cement, 300 barrels to the carload, is being shipped here from Burlington, Ill., at the rate of four carloads a day.

Cement 30 Cents Higher

County Commissioner Moore estimates 30,000 barrels will be needed this year for construction work in Rock county. At the rate of $1.50 a barrel it will cost $45,000 for cement this year. This is 30 cents a barrel more than last year, Mr. Moore said. Cement will be stored in warehouses at Evansville and a tobacco warehouse at Fellows station.

Read machinery is being overhauled at the county shops. The first concrete work done will be the laying of the two and a half miles from the sand and gravel pit five miles from Evansville back toward Janesville to connect with the first stretch laid. Work will then start at the pit and continue toward Evansville.

More Equipment Probable
Mr. Moore was making arrangements this week for purchase of two dump engines at Springfield, Ill., and securing of five three-ton trucks. The latter can be bought for $1,600 each.

Plans for the 20-mile gravel road resurfacing program scheduled for this year are rapidly being completed by the county highway commissioners' force, with the result that bids will be advertised for it, it is expected, within three weeks.

The first grading job to be let is for the Janesville-Evansville road.

Two miles of grading done before work was stopped last fall gives the graders a good start and they should keep ahead of the concrete workers all the way, Mr. Moore said. With a surplus of a million and a half on hand at Madison, it is likely the four miles on the extension of the Edgott-Clinton road will be constructed this year with federal aid the commissioner said.

MORE DEPOSITORS IN SCHOOL BANKS

Bank day in the schools each Tuesday is gaining in popularity, and the efforts of officials to have the number of depositors increase, whether the total amount of deposits does or not, are having their effect. Tuesday's amounts were $131 in the senior high school, $116 in the junior, while in the grades, the amounts for the schools ranged from $4 to $34. The Adams having the last named amount. This school was also highest last week. Depositors in the senior high amounted to 346, in the junior 309.

24 IN JAIL DURING MONTH: ONE TO "PEN"

Twenty-four prisoners were committed to the Rock county jail for a visit of one night or more and six were farmed out during the month by Sheriff Fred Beley. One prisoner was taken to Waupun, Morris A. Annery, convicted of forgery. The jail now has seven visitors most of whom are awaiting trial.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST VICE IS ADVOCATED

Chicago.—The vice grand jury late Friday made a final report exonerating the police department of charges of protection of commercial vice, as well as the police, to do more constructive work in eradicating vice resorts. The jury were urged to impose more severe penalties, and jail sentences for persons found in resorts were recommended.

GEORGE ARLISS, "THE MAN WHO PLAYED GOD" AT THE MYERS.

week for all who see "The Hottentot" at the Apollo. William Collier's famous stage success, so well remembered by many Jansville people, has to contain even more thrills than possible on the stage. And in addition, many of the many lines that made the play a hit for several seasons, have been preserved in the screen production. It has only recently completed its long run in large cities, where it has been made into a picture and is said to be most favorably received.

Thomas H. Ince has made the picture and his long list of successes assures the success of this latest production. It is essentially a comedy, and the comedy element is made the most of both in the situations, the lines and the acting. In addition to this, a mystery element and a thrilling element when Sun Harrington, the young man whose greatest anxiety was the sight of a horse, is forced to ride the fastest horse in an exciting steeple-chase, is added.

Pictures of the race-track are always thrilling, but are apt to be only commonplace melodramas of Kentucky. "The Hottentot" gets away from this element by the comedy, without losing the thrill of the race and the interest that all people have in races. It is said that the scenes of the actual steeple-chase, with Harrington as a jockey on "The Hottentot," fastest of all horses in the country, the last word in photography and shows more clearly than anything yet made, close-ups of the race.

Douglas MacLean is one of the screen's foremost comedians of the better class and always makes a hit. He is said to be unusually good in "The Hottentot," and much of the excellence of the picture, comedy parts, especially is credited to him. Madge Bellamy, whose beauty was brought out to such an advantage in "Lorna Doone," seen at the same theater during this past week, has the leading feminine role. Lila Leslie, Truly Shattuck, Raymond Hatton and others make an excellent cast.

The usual policy concerning the week-end, will be followed.

How $50,000 in Gold Turned to Wood

A True Detective Story by WILLIAM A. PINKERTON

This is a detective story told by William Pinkerton, nationally known for his ability to solve puzzling crimes. Except as to names of characters, every detail and illustration of the ingenuity displayed by criminals at times and the difficulty of the law in catching them in fixing guilt.

THE president of the San Jose (Cal.) Bank cast a glance toward the trays of gold on the counter and then proceeded to greet a customer who had come to stack their gold on the counter in trays, where everyone could see it and thus be inspired with confidence in the concern.

As the bank president looked at his trays, they appeared to be piled high with the precious metal. He little dreamed of the surprise that was in store for him. The customer presented a large check and demanded gold in payment. The president reached over into one of the trays to draw out the proper amount of money.

Then he withdrew his hand as if he had been stung. For a moment he merely stared at the stack of yellow stuff with bulging eyes, then he dove into the mass with both hands.

"Nelson," he cried, addressing the sole clerk, "We have been robbed."

An examination showed that the receptacles were packed high with gold, wooden disks cut to the size of $10, $20 and $50 gold pieces.

"What became of the $50,000 that was on this counter?" cried the bank president. "Tell me. What happened while I was out for lunch?"

A Wooden Money Swindle.

Officers of the law were called in and diagnosed the case as a wooden money swindle, but from that they could make no headway. It was a complete mystery as to how the trays of gold changed into wooden disks. Hundreds of people gathered to get a glimpse of the wooden money which had been palmed off on the institution by some strange sleight of hand.

All roads leading out of San Jose were guarded and passes got out over the principal highways or a wild chase after someone, they knew not who. The cashier, Nelson, remembered only that the stranger, who had been the bank and had given him a large quantity of nickels and cent pieces in exchange for a $15 draft. He had been much occupied with the money in making this change. The bank president recalled that as he was crossing the street, some person whom he had never seen suddenly rushed up to him and asked as to the location of the principal hospital in town. Very inaccurate descriptions of these two persons were given.

Chief Lees of San Francisco was communicated with and he promised to send out a posse to meet with that from San Jose. This posse reached the 14-mile house and its members saw a buggy containing two men coming toward them at a furious pace. They waited behind trees and then jumped out with leveled rifles and halted the pair.

They proved to be two very harmless appearing fellows who said they had been drinking a little and were hurrying to the nearest saloon to get another. "They killed one of their bay horses by fast driving and bought a sorrel at a farmhouse with $200 in gold cash. We know that they are the men who robbed the bank."

William Pinkerton, the famous detective, was called into the case. "I must have been occupied by the bank," he said, "I am going to take it back to San Francisco with me."

The San Jose people could not understand what the detective wanted with the wooden money, but the pine disks were turned over to the sleuth who promptly repaired to the city of the Golden Gate.

Pinkerton's first move was to hunt up all the gambling shops that had lattes capable of turning out the disks. A few days' search resulted in the finding of a small place where the work had been done. The proprietors of the place, two young men, supplied Pinkerton with a very good description of the thieves. The descriptions were because the men had been in the country and a reward was offered for the capture of the men. From his records Chief Lees identified the two purchasers of the wooden disks as Walt Jones and Harry Schwendener, ex-convicts who had served a term for a prior bank robbery.

While descriptions tally exactly with my records of these two men and I have information that the Schwendener gang has come to the Coast," said Chief Lees, "they are all ex-cons. There are two other men in the outfit."

Pinkerton satisfied himself that the two other members were Tom Blaylock and Jimmy Carroll, who they always paired with Jones and Schwendener, according to previous reports on their gang activities.

With this information at hand, he printed circulars with the photographs of the men, increasing the reward to $1,000 for information leading to the capture. He told him that the fellows were still in San Francisco. In these days it was difficult to get out of the city, since the frontier and the roads up the peninsula were watched. Pinkerton had detectives everywhere looking for these thieves in the tenderloin district, gambling halls, pool halls and dives. He hoped to recover at least part of the $50,000 for his client.

Months passed and finally the detective decided that the crew had eluded him. One day he received a caller. She was a girl, obviously, of the underworld.

"I get the thousand dollars," she queried.

"Thousand dollars for what?" demanded Pinkerton.

"For turning up Blaylock," she answered. "I'll do it for the $1,000 if you'll promise not to turn him loose and give him a chance to croak me."

In the end she told how Blaylock had been staying with her in San Jose house, but that she had not known he was the bank thief until she saw one of the circulars containing his photograph.

The police went to the house, surrounded it and surprised Blaylock, without his gun. Neither the bank cashier nor the president could identify the man, however, and it looked as if the authorities would have to turn him loose, when an officer who had been told to watch Blaylock's room made another "pinch."

When this man was confronted with the bank president, that financial magnate said:

"Why, this is the fellow who asked me about the hospital!"

Pinkerton now had a very clear idea as to how the job was pulled. He knew that it was Jones who "stalled" the bank clerk and held his attention with the multitude of coppers and nickels. He did not know, of course, who had done the actual substituting, but he guessed that the performer of this ticklish stunt was Schwendener himself, the leader.

"You might as well confess," he said to Blaylock. "Carroll has told us all."

Blaylock laughed scornfully. "You can't fool me with a trick like that. I'll prove to you that he has squaled," said Pinkerton.

"I know how you pulled that job. I know the whole thing, so you might as well come across."

Detective Explained How

"Walt Jones stalled the clerk by giving him a lot of hash for the draft. You and Carroll were stationed about the bank, Harry Schwendener walked in wearing a pair of sneakers, reached those long fingers of his through the iron grating, opened the lock and went behind the counter. In his hands he carried the trays of gilded wooden money. He placed these trays on the counter, put the gold into a sack and beat it out to the buggy."

"But as he reached the bank door he saw the president of the institution coming across the street. Harry told him to stop the fellow and he ran out and asked him the location of the hospital. This gave Schwendener a chance to get into the buggy with the gold. Now that shows what a good pal Carroll is to you."

"That dirty lying sneak," cried Blaylock. "He snitched on me."

After a few days in jail Blaylock also "coughed up."

According to his story, Schwendener had planned the robbery. He had worked in San Jose, and the sight of the great piles of gold on the counter had tempted him sorely. He watched the place and learned that at noon only one clerk was in the institution. It occurred to him that if he could substitute something for the trays of gold, he might be able to "snatch" the bank and make a getaway before the officers were notified.

In San Francisco he had the wooden disks made, and with the assistance of his pals he painted these a golden hue.

Jones then went out and purchased the trays that were exactly like those used in the bank. When the wooden money was stacked on these trays, it was difficult to tell at a distance, from the genuine.

"What did I do off exactly as planned? After securing the gold the robbers drove out to an old adobe house on the outskirts of the city and stopped. They made a close fitting platform of old boards and held this they poured the scintillating yellow gold.

Fifty-dollar, ten and twenty-dollar gold pieces tumbled over each other as they cascaded out like a stream of fire. This was divided equally. "I think there's about $50,000 there," said Schwendener. That will give you boys some $12,000 each until the next job. We won't squabble if one of us gets a few more twenties than the other. The man who takes the smallest pile gets the sack."

They Divide the Gold.

Carroll got the sack and scooped his treasure into it. The others, who tried to stay away from the gold in their pockets immediately set up a howl. A quarter of $50,000 weighed more than forty pounds, a quantity that could not be carried readily in pockets. Neither would a hat hold it.

Jones and Schwendener solved their dilemma by putting the gold in the bottom of a feed bag and straw, and which they found in the buggy and piling feed on top of it, while Blaylock discovered an old cost in the adobe shack which he made into a treasure trove by tying it up into a bundle.

Blaylock and Carroll then decided to go back to San Jose. The other two drove away in the buggy toward San Francisco with a parting warning to their accomplices to lay low.

"I've got this game beat to a frazzle," said Jones. "I'm going to play drunk and stay in a Turkish bath until the thing blows over."

"I know a nice girl who will put me up for a little dough," returned Blaylock. "We'll be a lot safer than those fellows in their fifty miles' drive to 'Frisco."

Helped by Women.

How true Blaylock's predictions were may be judged by the fact that Jones and Schwendener escaped not only from San Francisco but from the state of California and were captured in Chicago. In their confessions they told how they had broken through the cordon of police that surrounded them in the Bay City. In the house where they had stayed were two ladies with families. These women wanted to return to Iowa. Although they were husbands when they came to San Francisco, as they walked onto the ferry boat to cross to the continental side to get a train, each was accompanied by a fatherly appearing man who carried a youngster and led another. Even the eagle eye of William Pinkerton failed to spot the very domestic looking men as the San Jose bank robbers.

William Pinkerton told this story while he was attending the convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police in San Francisco recently.

"And right today there are people who have to be warned not to take wooden money," said Pinkerton, facetiously.

PALMYRA

Palmyra—John Owen and family have moved into Alvin Jaquith's house on Fifth street.

JEFFERSON COUNTY

FORT ATKINSON

Fort Atkinson.—Ernest Hansen, world champion chicken dresser, now holds the record for dressing a chicken in less than six seconds. An article in "Poultry Success" calls attention to his praises along this line. It says, "he will prove a drawing card in any poultry show and is ready at any time to defend his title against all comers. Beside dressing a fowl in an ordinary way, he can do a fancy job blindfolded. In dressing chickens he keeps two men busy, one handling him the fowl, the other taking them from him."

Norman McQuarrie, a former Fort boy, recently employed in Chicago, has taken a position with the Pittsburg Cooling Tower company and he and his mother have moved to that city.

J. E. Mack is away on an auctioning trip. He was one of the auctioneers at the Waukesha Hotel and Breeder's mid-winter sale, also at the Watertown Holstein Sales company's sale. From there he went to Kearney, Neb. and will spend next week in Kansas.

Next week's club meetings are as follows: W. R. C. Tuesday night, with social hour following program; Ingleside club, Tuesday, with Mrs. A. L. Logan; Coterie with Mrs. C. I. Morrison; Badger Study with Mrs. A. J. Glover and Tuesday club with Mrs. W. W. Connel.

Miss Doris Aspinwall of Waukesha will spend the week end here, the guest of Miss Esther Bacon.

Mrs. Davis Gustafson went to Beloit Thursday.

Mrs. Gerald Schreiner left for Chicago Friday, after spending a week visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Gilbert Toussaint of Kenosha is visiting at the homes of Charles Bacon and H. Toussaint.

Ed Hoffman, Jefferson, was a business visitor Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Whidby and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drexler were Watertown visitors Thursday.

Mrs. Edward Garthwaite and son spent a part of the week in Jefferson.

Mrs. William Lasher entertained three tables of cards Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Valerius came up from Evanson, Friday night to spend the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Roessler.

On Sunday morning the boys of the fifth and sixth grades in the Methodist Sunday school will put on a three act play entitled "William Carey, the First Missionary." It will be given under the direction of Miss Edna Hunt.

Quick were visitors in Milwaukee Thursday.

BOTTLING PLANT PLANS EXPANSION

Establishment of a plant in Janesville for the bottling of Coca Cola for distribution in Rock and nearby counties is expected to be decided within the next few days by the Southern Wisconsin Coca Cola company, which is the new name of the Heibel Bottling company under new articles of incorporation filed at Madison.

"The change of name and increasing the capital stock from $50,000 to $85,000 followed the signing of a contract with the Coca Cola company for the exclusive franchise for eight southern Wisconsin counties for the sale of Coca Cola. The plan is to continue the main office and factory now being conducted in Madison and establish a factory in Janesville for the bottling of the beverage for the business in this territory.

George H. Esser will be plant manager if the arrangement is carried out. Mr. Esser said Friday that the matter would not be definitely settled until probably Monday or Tuesday. Mr. Esser became connected with the Heibel company about a year and a half ago when the local plant was taken over and used as a distribution center for the Heibel business. L. G. Heibel will continue to act as president and treasurer of the new organization. The other members of the firm are: Henry Stas, vice-president; W. E. Prindle, secretary, and George H. Esser, Janesville, plant manager.

Beverly's big new symphony orchestra plays for all evening performances of "East is West," starting Sunday. Don't miss this show of shows.

Convenient to Care For and to Drive

It's a real pleasure to own a Buick not only because of its dependable performance, but also because Buick has so many conveniences that simplify its care and operation.

A few moments will reveal exactly how every day maintenance of Buick cars is quickly, easily, and cleanly done.

The variety of these features and the comfort that they provide for the owner can be fully appreciated only by personal inspection of the 1923 models.

A Disregarded Warning

WHILE AWAITING DELIVERY OF HIS CAR, Brown put in some time learning to drive, on a friend's machine of the same make, somewhat to its detriment, for at first, he generally hit reverse gear instead of second speed, when getting away, and stalled the engine so often that the starter had to work overtime. Just the same, he got so he could drive fast and so impressed the examiner that his license came through all right. The Saturday afternoon when he took delivery seemed the appointed time to give it a real tryout and friends were ready to assist thereto. "When I brought her up from the freight yard, she seemed a bit stiff," volunteered the man who drove her out of the garage. "Yes, she's all fed up with water, gas and oil." "All right," chirped Brown, as he carelessly pulled off and stuffed into his coat pocket a bright red tag that didn't seem to ornament the steering post. The party that he picked up agreed that she was "some beast," and further cheerfully opined that the owner was "some driver" for really he handled the wheel like a veteran. When the inevitable stop for cigars for the front seat and chocolates for the rear was made at a suburban stand, the radiator was blowing steam voluminously, but Brown was sure she would cool off on the open road, when he let her out and he surely did open her up, so that at times, the speedometer graduations seemed inclined to start around the second time. "What a wealth of power there was for the hills—at first—but after a while she began to act a little 'draggy' on the grades and there were funny murmurs which grew worse from under the hood. It peevish Brown began to have to go into second and then into low on a hill, while sounds reminiscent of a boiler shot emanated from in front and finally, in trying to rush a steep pitch, on high, the engine stalled with jazz accompaniment and the starter refused to budge it. While waiting for the low-car from the Clarkville Garage, Brown pulled out his gloves, bringing with them the ubiquitous red tag and, in utter boredom, glanced at it. This is what he read—The moving parts of this car are very closely and accurately fitted and we disclaim all responsibility for damage resulting, if this car is run at over 25 miles per hour, during its first 500 miles of service.

LOCATING AIR LEAKS

L. J. writes: My engine idea unevenly and misfires quite a little when running slowly. One of my friends says that this is because extra air is sucked into the cylinders, where the parts are not tight, and that this makes the gas too thin to burn. How can I test and find if this is so, and locate the places where this air gets in?

Answer: If leaks around the valve stems are suspected, proceed as follows: With a valve-in-head engine, remove the valve cover, start the engine and, with a squirt can, run gasoline down each inlet valve stem. If this makes the engine fire regularly, there is air leakage around the stems. In the case of pocketed intake valves, remove the cover plate and wind a shroud of cotton waste around and through the lower ends of each valve spring. Start the engine and if smoking these places of waste with gasoline stops the missing, leakage is demonstrated. A piece of gasoline soaked waste held against suspected manifold and carburetor flanges will test out these possible leak points.

TROUBLESOME VALVES

G. L. writes: My 1918 car has always given me trouble by requiring regrounding of its valves at what seems to me altogether too short intervals. About 4,000 miles is all the service they will stand and keep tight. The car which I owned before this ran 12,000 miles without any attention to its valves. In all other respects my present car is satisfactory and I should like to run it another season. Is there anything I can do about the valves?

Answer: At the time your car was built, there was some difficulty in obtaining the best metal for valve heads and considerable inferior heat resisting material was used, almost of necessity. This may not have been the case in this particular instance, but we suggest that you take this matter up with the factory which built your car and see if they cannot furnish you a set of valves (exhausts at least), which may be expected to give better service.

Buy Your Tires Now

Since Nov. 1922, rubber has gone from 17c a lb. to 40c a lb. The British government controls 83% of the world's supply of plantation rubber. On Nov. 1, 1922, they restricted the export to 60% of 1920 production. You can readily see what effect this condition has had on rubber costs. The tires on your car were made from 18c rubber, NOW it is 40c and GOING UP.

YOU will replace (UNLESS you buy NOW) with tires made from rubber costing 40c or more. WHAT WILL YOU PAY? These are facts, not THEORY.

TITLE CONTEST III—NAME THIS PICTURE, GET $2.50

This is No. 3. $2.50 for the best short description of it in a line. Why not make a little family game of thinking up titles. After the Sunday dinner have every member of the family submit a title and send them all to the Titles Editor.

The only rules for the contest are as follows:

- No title may have more than twelve words.
- Titles must be written on postcards.
- Do not enclose titles in envelopes.
- Titles must be in this office by Thursday night. Otherwise they will not be considered by the judges.

Address Title Editor, the Saturday and Sunday Gazette.

MAYBE WE EXPECT TOO LITTLE FROM GOD," SAYS CASE

(The fourth of a series of Lenten sermons contributed to the Gazette by Janesville ministers.)

BY FREDERICK F. CASE,
Pastor, Central Methodist Church

"For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." John 3:16.

What a wondrous thought. In contemplation of this glorious declaration do you wonder that devout souls are "lost in wonder and amazement"? As the spirit of the Lenten season grows upon us, we look into the nature of our relationship to God, as we do at no other period of the year. We cannot forget His great love, that was measured by sorrow, pain, suffering and the bitter death upon the cross. Because He loved us, "He came to save us from our sins." Christ was preeminently interested in spiritual values. The souls of men bulged large in His thinking.

Sir William Hamilton, after a life spent in scientific and philosophic studies, gave it as his verdict that "there is nothing on earth nothing great but man, and in man, nothing great but his soul." This is in strict accord with the teaching of the Man of Galilee. John Bacon, the sculptor, depicted his own spirit as the "Man of Sorrows" and the "Man of Faith." "What I was as an artist seemed to me of importance while I lived; but what I was as a believer in Christ Jesus is the only matter of importance to me now."

If nature is the realm not of failures, blunders and disasters, but of success, is man alone doomed to failure? It is obvious that the answer is a life beyond, man is not a success; he serves no fit, final end. Life seems only a vestibule to a higher existence, a preparation for a grander experience.

"For the plan would be imperfect. Unless there is found a sphere. To pay for the toll and sorrow. A life that is lived here." Perhaps our fault lies in expecting too little of God. We content ourselves with so little of His wondrous love and grace, and adopt the sentiment attributed to Copernicus and found engraved upon his monument in St. John's church at Thorn: "I crave not the favor which Paul received, nor the glory with which Thou didst pardon Peter; I only pray for that which Thou didst bestow from the cross upon the dying thief." Surely God desires that we move on to this. Certainly God wants to bestow more than this upon every trusting soul. He gives us unspeakable and full of glory. A peace that the world cannot give, and praise God the world cannot take away.

The theory of a personal divine Creator, and a loving Saviour, who serves unto the uttermost all who put their full trust in Him, offers a resting-place for the reason, as well as the heart of man.

It accounts for the marks of intelligent forethought and foresight; for the origin of life, of intelligence, of conscience; it accounts for matter and mind, and that master combination of both—man. It accounts for the Bible and all its wonderful unveilings of truth, and lifts the veil from the great world beyond sight and sense and beyond the portals of death. It is not strange that today, there are more believers in the God of the Bible than ever, for the human heart has always been restless till it has found rest in this sublime faith.

STATE MAN INSPECTS ROCK COUNTY'S BOOKS

Inspection of the new system of books installed in the court house in January, 1922, by the Wisconsin tax commission, is being made this week by R. S. Mallow, Madison.

"We never feel that our work is completed until the installation of the books and always make an inspection at the conclusion of one year's use," said Mr. Mallow.

He inspected the county treasurer's books, Friday.

At the age of 20 years, Miss Vivian Cook, of Mississippi, is probably the youngest practicing attorney in the world.

IN THE THROES OF RECONSTRUCTION

Mrs. T. W. Taft of Whitewater, Wis., wins the $2.50 prize with the title, "In the Throes of Reconstruction." It was hard for the judges to decide this contest. There were a number of good ones and a number also who seemed to think the picture had a title and they were to guess it. There is no title for the picture. The judges do not know what it is, they have to take the one that seems to fit best. Remember, here is a nameless picture and you are supposed to name it. Some said "Impossible" was the right title but that, according to the judges, was obvious. On the honor roll this week are:

Mrs. A. G. Richards, 542 S. River street, Janesville, "Feet well high unattainable";

Mrs. W. T. Gimberty, 232 N. Chatham street, "A question of weights and measures";

Harold Bauer, Milton, "Hope for the best and get ready for the worst";

J. D. Quirk, 933 13th street, "To have but not to hold";

Mrs. Gertrude Eager, Evansville, "It may be comedy for some but its tragedy for us";

There were several hundred more answers and suggestions this week than last. It is impossible to print all of them. Here is a list of titles sent in by some of the title makers:

Mrs. W. K. Davis, Milton, "Physic";

Myra Davis, Milton, "Dr. Brady's lean-to";

Mrs. Spiegelschneider, Milton, "She stoops to conquer"; and "So near but yet so far."

New Method of Reducing Fat

A news item from abroad informs us that the American method of producing a slim, trim figure is meeting with astonishing success. This system, which has made such a wonderful impression over there, must be the Marmola Prescription Tablet method of reducing fat. It is said to say that we have nothing better for this purpose in this country. Anything that will reduce the excess flesh steadily and easily without injury to the stomach, causing of wrinkles, the harm of exercising or dieting, or interference with one's meals is a mighty important and useful addition to a nation's necessities. Just such a catalog of good results follow the use of these pleasant, harmless and economical little fat reducers. We say economical because Marmola Prescription Tablets (made in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription) can be obtained of any druggist the world over or from the Marmola Company, 165 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich., for one dollar a case, which is a decidedly economical price, considering the number of tablets each case contains. They are harmless.

10 Gallons of Hot Water for About 1c

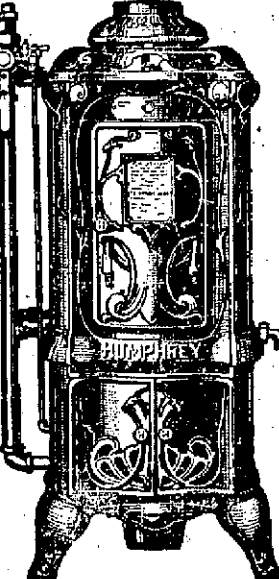

To heat water in furnace coils or kitchen tank costs more than does Humphrey Automatic hot-water service.

With the Humphrey Automatic Gas Water Heater there is no expense for heating water over and over again. This wonderful device heats only as much water as is used at the time, at a cost of about 10 gallons for one cent. When a hot-water faucet is opened anywhere in the house the big Humphrey gas burners light automatically—not even a match to strike. But when the faucet is closed, gas is shut off instantly; saving heavy cost of heating water that is not used.

In addition to a big saving of expense, the Humphrey saves time, delays and disappointments. It is ready to serve you at any instant, day or night—winter or summer—with an endless stream of piping-hot, fresh water.

Think of the delightful, daily comfort of having steaming, hot water always ready for the laundry, the bath, the shave, dish-washing, housecleaning, illness or emergencies.

Abundant and instant hot water is a necessity in any home. See that your supply is on a modern, dependable, economical basis. It will be if you install a

Hounding Defense Gives Blues 29-20 Win Over Normals

Meek's stellar guarding of Hahn, satelite center, and a clever exhibition of team work, gave Janesville high school a 29 to 20 victory over Whitewater tonight high here Friday night. It was Janesville's final regular game of the season.

In a preliminary contest, Janesville high seconds made up for their shortcomings to the hands of Edgerton's seconds, by taking the T-bacco city into camp, 20 to 8.

Hahn Does Not Falter.
After a first quarter that ended 4 to 3 for the commercial visitors, the Blues were in much danger, although Whitewater crawled up to within winning distance several times in the second half.

Hahn, the tanky, very pivot man of the team, "prop" squad, has been heralded as this season's find. While he got out of some tight corners Friday night in a pretty fashion, he was not able to hold them. He was held without a field goal. He had to be content with making four out of six free throws. He displayed a classy style and pivot. He held the defense in the extremely tight style of guarding used by the Blues, the locals might have run the score higher. But, out to make their 14th game of the season a win, the home team played safe.

Start Scoring Early.
Within the first 10 seconds of the game, Hahn, who turned out to be the shooting star for the normals, swished the ball through the meshes and set the pace. Dawson tied the count with a long one, and Dickinson took the lead with a free throw. Only to be followed by a count from the field by P. Trewny on a snappy illustration of the short pass game.

Hard playing ruled in both the first and second quarters, with Janesville missing many shots and fumbling the ball. In the second period, the Blues set a factor pace with Dawson and Dickinson working hand in hand in the forward sector and both scoring. During this stanza, the Blues pulled a new guard play from their back that left Hahn in a hole, lead 13 to 8 at half time. A long shot by Meek was the one that put the Bowyer city ahead and started things.

Reynolds Proves a Corner.
Despite all their efforts, the Whitewater team was unable in the third quarter to overcome Janesville. The boys from Walworth county played a snaky game, particularly the Reynold brothers and Hahn, but for several minutes they failed to break up the Janesville combination which was steadily and smoothly piling up the points. Dawson starred particularly in tearing through and counting after the ball, and Hahn, who was fed by Meek, followed him by beautiful series of short passes, Reynold to Dickinson, with Meek, helping on the cross-court. "Dick" made a great play, cutting through by intercepting Whitewater pass.

Increase Pace Toward End.
Janesville increased its pace in the fourth quarter, at the same time Hahn, who was fed by Meek, followed him by beautiful series of short passes, Reynold to Dickinson, with Meek, helping on the cross-court. "Dick" made a great play, cutting through by intercepting Whitewater pass.

The game saw the appearance of John Bolander, a former Monroe boy, in the role of cheer leader, with Joseph Reed assisting.

BRINGING UP FATHER

"YW" Sets Fine Record; Plays Madison Saturday

With five victories and one defeat, by a small margin, the Janesville Y. W. C. basketball team is setting the pace for women's squads of this season. The sextette of the local "YW," coached by the physical director, Miss Helen West, has set up the following record to date:

Janesville, 18; Union High, 15; Janesville, 42; Janesville 2nds, 32; Janesville, 25; Milton College, 8; Janesville, 39; Broadhead High, 8; Janesville, 63; Union High, 14; Janesville, 16; Madison "YW," 24.

This makes a total of 197 points against 95 made by their opponents. The second team, likewise, is making an enviable reputation, as witnesses:

Janesville 2nds, 32; Janesville 1st, 46; Janesville 2nds, 46; School for Blind, 13; Madison "YW" 2nds, 13.

Saturday night, the first team again enters the limelight. It is to play the Madison "YW" here in a return game at the armory at 8 p. m. This is a game that will be filled with excitement, due to the loss of the local Madison last week.

The first team will lineup with the usual players. The seconds will have the following:

Center: Chamberlain, side center: Travis, right forward: Lowry, left forward: Baumann, right guard: Persson, captain and left guard.

Two guards that are death to enemy teams, the Miss Pfeiffer and Stephenson, plus two forwards, the Miss Ward and Riley, that are adepts at passing, bouncing and shooting, and two centers that feed the ball cleverly give the "YW" first team an offense and defense that is hard to beat. Girls rules are used.

Can Brooklyn repeat? When last the Janesville Black Cats took a trip over to Brooklyn, Wis., they were defeated by the Brooklyn players.

The Brooklyn players have suffered defeat. They lost early in the season on the rink floor, 32 to 14, two weeks ago, they dropped here, 40 to 15.

With the possible exception of Babcock, center, the Cat family will be in trim. Raubacher, forward, and Kober, guard, are again in fighting trim.

Smaller Seine Mesh

If a bill submitted in the assembly by James Pederson, Marquette, goes through and becomes law, meshes of seine of professional fishermen will be limited to 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 inches. No nets with meshes larger or smaller than this will be permitted.

Evansville Jars Elkhorn

Evansville — The local high school basketball team completed its schedule here Friday night by defeating Elkhorn, 24-8, before 600.

Coach Lyon's boys were not fast enough to keep up with the steady pace which the locals set and trailed at half time 16-4.

The local team started the game without Roberts, veteran free thrower who went into the fray the second half and scored five baskets. James, playing forward in Roberts' place, opened the scoring with a free throw when Wiswell fouled.

THE BUSINESS OF FARMING—DAIRY—FARM BUREAU—LIVE STOCK

CULL STOCK CLOSE FOR P. B. AUCTION

Inferior Stock Means Low Averages and Poor Price Standards.

LEWIS C. FRENCH
Swine sales over and cattle sales coming in. It is a good time to carefully review the market and spend time in thinking over the reverses. There is something the matter with livestock sales at the present time, not only here but all over the state, and to a marked degree in other livestock states.

At the start, conditions looked for a record breaking series of sales. The first sale was a success and the best held in the state, with prices good and a satisfactory average. Then the change. Prices dropped, the demand seemed to shorten up tight, and at the rest of the sales the stock that really deserved the bids received scant attention. It was not only true on swine but even at some of the national sales.

Need Better Quality
What's the reason?
Men experienced in sales work have not yet agreed upon any direct reason, but all have a few suggestions. Among the reasons they advance is that the farmers and breeders are short of funds to buy with, and the low prices for market stock, and third, too many sales.

At one of the national cattle sales a good bunch of the stock went for prices that were but slightly better than existing beef prices. Yet the top prices paid were fairly good. The fact that the farmer has been hard pressed may be the fundamental reason for the dropping off of the sales, but beyond that comes the question of too much inferior stock being offered as breeding stock. As the rest of the sales the state Duroc meeting, pure bred livestock breeders must close. A good per cent of the stock that is put through the sales, ring should honestly go into the pork barrel.

Setting Higher Values
It is significant that low prices on inferior stock and a hard sledding to bring $20, and right then and there that price to a marked degree becomes the dead line. Bidders will offer, regardless of the quality of the following animals.

Put in a gilt that is not grown out, patchy, having poor bone or other good points, and the good buyer refuses to buy. The animal is knocked off at a low figure, probably more than the gilt is really worth. The next one is a fine type, developed and conditioned animal that should sell for around $50 and $75, or higher, and the auctioneer has the hardest time in the world to raise the price above that of the inferior animal. Buyers in most instances, cannot see $30 or $40 difference in quality. They have a fixed idea of what they will pay, for the reason the poor stock set that false standard of values for that particular sale.

Pork the Culls
"We have heard of a breeder, "Next year breeders should limit their sales more. You cannot sneak through one poor one along with the good ones and obtain a good average. It should all be good, even if it means doubling up on the sales—breeders combining or selling through the county association."

Where there is a poor average there is not much left for the breeder when he deducts sales expenses. In many instances he would be money ahead if he were to sell the stock at a low price, but a few scrubby ones knock off the worth of every head.

The Rock County Holstein association is planning its sale in May on this basis. This stock will sell well if the consignment is above the average and properly conditioned. There are two things to do, say the sales authorities—pick only good stock and then have them fit to be led into the ring, without an apology. That is livestock salesmanship.

BABCOCK PRESIDENT OF GUERNSEY ASSOC.
H. H. Babcock, Edgerton, has been named president of the recently organized Dane County Guernsey Breeders' association, with H. C. Sutcliffe, Black Earth, secretary.

ROBINSON TO SELL AT KANSAS AUCTION
J. C. Robinson, Son, Evansville, will send eight head from their prize herd to the sixth annual Hereford sale to be held in Kansas City March 18, 1923. The event will be the annual round-up for the breeders of the whitetails. Eighty-seven animals from 13 states have been consigned. Two of the main herd sires at the Robinson farm will be offered. The price paid at the 1922 sale was $7,600 for a full—Maple Lad 121st—from the Robinson herd.

NO INDEMNITY ON SCRUB HERD SIRE
Under revised regulation the United States department of agriculture will not allow indemnity on the "T. B." test for any bull that is not a pure bred. The federal ruling places such bulls in the class of mass animals—valueless for breeding purposes. In the past a few of the federal agents have been allowing a limited indemnity if the owner would pledge to use the money for a registered sire.

$64 IS AVERAGE AT DUROC SALE OF WALSH BROS.

Quality counts.
Despite adverse conditions and the general slump in livestock sales, there was an outstanding sale of registered Duroc-Jersey at the farm of Walsh Brothers, Beloit, on Friday afternoon. There were 41 head sold through the ring for an average of $64. The bidding was lively throughout the sale and about 150 in attendance.

The top price was $157.50 paid for a fall gilt by D. G. Clawson, Harvard, Ill. The second price was $122.50 paid for a fall gilt by Floyd Salk, Rock county. Clarence Croft, Rock county, paid $110 for a sow that had a litter of 11. Mike Treer, Keokuk, Ia, paid $107 for a fall gilt, Linda Beauty.

It was an outstanding consignment of good stock and marks the third annual sale of the Walsh brothers.

Fred Waldman sold a consignment of 10 head in the pavilion on Saturday afternoon. W. H. Latta sold in Clinton at the same time.

26 PERCENT HOGS SHOW INFECTION AT BADGER PLANTS

The report of Dr. Arthur Killams, Wisconsin livestock commissioner, Janesville, shows that during the week ending February 10, 1923, there were 22,072 hogs killed for pork in two Wisconsin packing plants. Of this number 6,000, or 26.3 per cent, were tagged for tuberculosis.

JUNIOR CLUB PLANS DISCUSS FRIDAY

Assurance was given at the meeting of the Rock county junior club committee Friday afternoon that sufficient applications would be received to have five good clubs this season. More than 100 applications have been made to date for the new pig club, and prospects are for a membership of more than 800.

Final arrangements were made for the delivery day in Janesville when the stock will be pooled and distributed to the juniors through allotment.

J. A. Craig, chairman, will speak on the club work in Edgerton next week. The schools are about all completed as soon as road conditions allow travel on the crossroads.

M. S. Kollage, Janesville, reports Guernsey calves weighing 84 and 91 pounds were born recently at his farm on the Beloit road.

The gold output of Canada in 1922 amounted to more than 1,200,000 ounces, an increase of 31 per cent over 1921.

ADVERTISING AID TO FARMER SALES

Editors of Community Papers Able to Give Constructive Aid.

By W. A. SUMNER

THIS weekly and daily paper editor of Wisconsin has the opportunity of becoming managers for Wisconsin's largest industry—farming.

The advertising account of a corporation capitalized at from two and a half to three billion dollars is not often found. This is the capitalization of Wisconsin's biggest industry. The balance sheet and inventory of this, Wisconsin's only billion dollar industry, shows some very interesting figures. For example, the livestock was valued, in 1921, at $322,213,000; the buildings were valued at $128,018,000; the machinery which kept this corporation going was valued at $167,588,000; the value of the crops raised by this company was $446,847,000; the livestock and livestock products brought in an income of $258,742,000.

Besides the labor of the 190,000 farmers and their families $18,136,000 were expended for hired help.

The average capitalization of each of these 190,000 companies which goes to make up this agricultural corporation is approximately $14,151.

The final and fourth step in advertising for the Wisconsin farmer comes when his livestock has become high priced; when his blood lines are famous; when his herds are known nationally—he then can afford to advertise in the breed papers. The breed papers reach from 2,500 to 10,000 of the cream of the breeders in the United States. It opens the nation's prize market among the producers of the highest quality of pure bred livestock. It obviously is a waste of the average farmer's money to advertise ordinary pure bred livestock among men who are looking for the highest development in quality.

Editors Can Help
Wise advertising counsel on the part of the weekly and daily editors of Wisconsin will widen and broaden the market of the Wisconsin farmer. Exploitation or high priced salesmanship which will induce farmers to advertise will bring a serious reaction. Not every farmer is ready to advertise. In the main, those who are ready to advertise are ready to receive advertising commissions of considerable size. The danger lies in getting the farmer who is not ready to use an expensive form of printed matter.

The editor with a conscience, the manager willing to build slowly and constructively, can be of immeasurable service to the Wisconsin farmer. This man's foresighted counsel will result in business for him as well as for the farmer.

There is an opportunity to develop the farm advertising in Wisconsin. It exists, and exists in a big way. The whole question simmers down to this—Are the newspaper men of Wisconsin ready to develop it in a constructive manner? Are they ready to do their part and do it well. Are they ready to see that for every dollar spent for advertising many dollars return to the man who spends it? The farmer can not afford to advertise if the advertising is to be ineffective. He can afford to advertise if it builds markets.

Home Paper Best
The home paper in the first medium which the average farmer should consider for advertising. The farmer who breeds livestock or pedigreed seed grains will find his best market in his home neighborhood. There is no medium as effective for selling his product as the home paper which keeps this corporation going was valued at $167,588,000; the value of the crops raised by this company was $446,847,000; the livestock and livestock products brought in an income of $258,742,000.

As the successful farmer's production increases and his selling radius is enlarged the daily or county paper is the logical advertising medium. The paper that covers more than the local community, that covers the adjoining communities as well, is the second step in newspaper advertising.

Build Home Market
When one stops to consider that about 5 per cent of all the livestock in Wisconsin is pure bred and realizes that 95 per cent consist of scrubs and grades, the importance of the pure bred market becomes manifest. The biggest market at present which the Wisconsin advertising newspaper man can show to his customer, the Wisconsin farmer, is the pure bred livestock market. The farmer who does not have pure bred livestock and pedigreed seed grains.

As the selling circle grows, and the quality of the product is raised, and the value of the product becomes higher, and the value is sufficient to stand a broadening of the sales policy, the state farm paper which covers the 71 counties in Wisconsin becomes the logical medium in addition to the community paper. This is the third step in the development of the Wisconsin farmer as an advertiser.

PICK SHORTHORNS FOR SHIPMENT TO MEXICAN SALE RING

Five head of milking Shorthorns were selected Friday to be shipped from Rock county to Mexico City, to be shown there in March and sold under the direction of the Shorthorn association. Four head heifers were obtained by V. L. Torrey, secretary of the association, and one young cow with calf at foot.

Other herds are to be inspected next week, with the hope of securing a number of young bulls at least a year old. Red and dark-colored are preferred in this order, while Shorthorns not being in demand in Mexico, it was stated.

GOOD PROFITS ON GUERNSEY CATTLE

The profit made on D-15, the type grade Guernsey cow exhibited by W. C. Dougan, Beloit at the Rock County first exposition is figured at $2.27 a day, according to cow testing association records.

A check for $421 for a herd of 21 Guernseys is reported by the American Advocate from the herd of Matt Domaszek, Nelsonville, Wis. This is an average of $20.05 per cow for the month.

STEEL UNLOADING JOB IS COMPLETED

Last of the seven carloads of steel bought by Harry F. Jones as unloading Friday afternoon, on North River street. Three days was required for the big job. The huge trusses and beams are stored on vacant property north of the first station and in back of the American Railway Exchange company's barn. The fire department removed its hose-drying span across two poles on the Jones property to allow the piling of steel.

THE FARM BUREAU PROGRAM FOR ROCK COUNTY

Profit Progress

MAKE THE BUREAU PAY YOU!

HEY! try this plank and let's see some action

COOPERATIVE MARKETING

When we trade hogs for fuel the hog dollar is worth only 48 cents Pres Bradhute

1—Limestone for enriching the soils and giving greater yields.

The four Bureau crushers will be operated to the best advantage during the coming year for giving lime at lower costs to farmers.

2—More alfalfa and legume crops.

The Bureau believes alfalfa, soy beans and clover will return more profit to the farmers. The increase in the acreage of these crops goes hand in hand with more limestone.

3—Spraying Orchards.

The Bureau will continue giving aid to the program for reviving and saving the orchards. Also in better marketing through associations of the fruit and honey.

4—Junior clubs.

The Bureau believes that in junior clubs it can do a great work in building a future Rock county and in building up the herds and flocks of the present day.

5—Livestock development.

Believing the success of agriculture in Rock county depends on livestock, the Bureau will back an active program to improve the quality of stock in Rock county, advocating and working for the area test, show herds, fair displays, pure-bred bull campaign, along with cow testing associations. The most effective unit to work out livestock problems is through the central organization, the Rock County Farm Bureau.

6—Better crop yields, through the distribution of educational matter, bacteria culture, pooling orders for fertilizer and seeds.

7—Exchange lists.

To help the farmer buy and sell home grown products, farm equipment and livestock. This is a free service that will be enlarged upon this year.

8—Cooperative Marketing.

The merchandising of our farm products will be pushed by every Farm Bureau organization, county, state and national.

9—Development of the city-country spirit for community development.

10—ROCK COUNTY FIRST! Combining all features to bring a greater Agriculture in this county.

The Rock County Farm Bureau,
W. G. Patterson, President, Evansville.
